CAPTAIN ERIC HOLMES MAY

Eric Holmes May died October 14, 2014 after a courageous 9-year fight against service-connected ALS, with Gretchen holding his hand. He gave his life for his country.

Born January 9, 1960, Eric was a native Houstonian who enjoyed people, classical and classic vinyl music, Texas football, hiking, camping, and cycling. He was a second-degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do.

Eric joined the U.S. Army in 1977. He achieved the rank of Captain and perfected skills in linguistics, public affairs and military intelligence. He graduated Cum Laude from the University of Houston in 1985 with a B.A. in classical studies. He spoke Russian, Spanish, Greek and Latin.

He taught high school for a while, where he astonished students by playing several games of chess, simultaneously. He was awarded Teacher of the Year and received a certificate of appreciation from the City of Houston for stopping a gang from terrorizing students.

His true passion was writing. He wrote editorials for KPRC news. He published numerous op-eds in the Houston Post, Houston Chronicle, The Wall Street Journal, The Lone Star Iconoclast and Veterans Today. He was also a poet and showered Gretchen with his poetry.

He loved politics and debate. He founded Ghosttroop.net, a collaboration of civilians and servicemen who argued and wrote about military and national issues.

To mourn him, Eric is survived by his wife and devoted caregiver, Gretchen; his mother, Carolyn; his children, Caroline and Andrew; son in law, Chris; siblings, April, Melody and Philip; and numerous other loved family and friends. His beloved father, Harry Holmes May preceded him in death in 2012.

Eric and Gretchen are forever grateful to the many caregivers, doctors, nurses and respiratory therapists who educated, cared, and supported them throughout his illness, particularly his niece, Victoria White, and the medical staff of 3D and the V.A. Hospital.

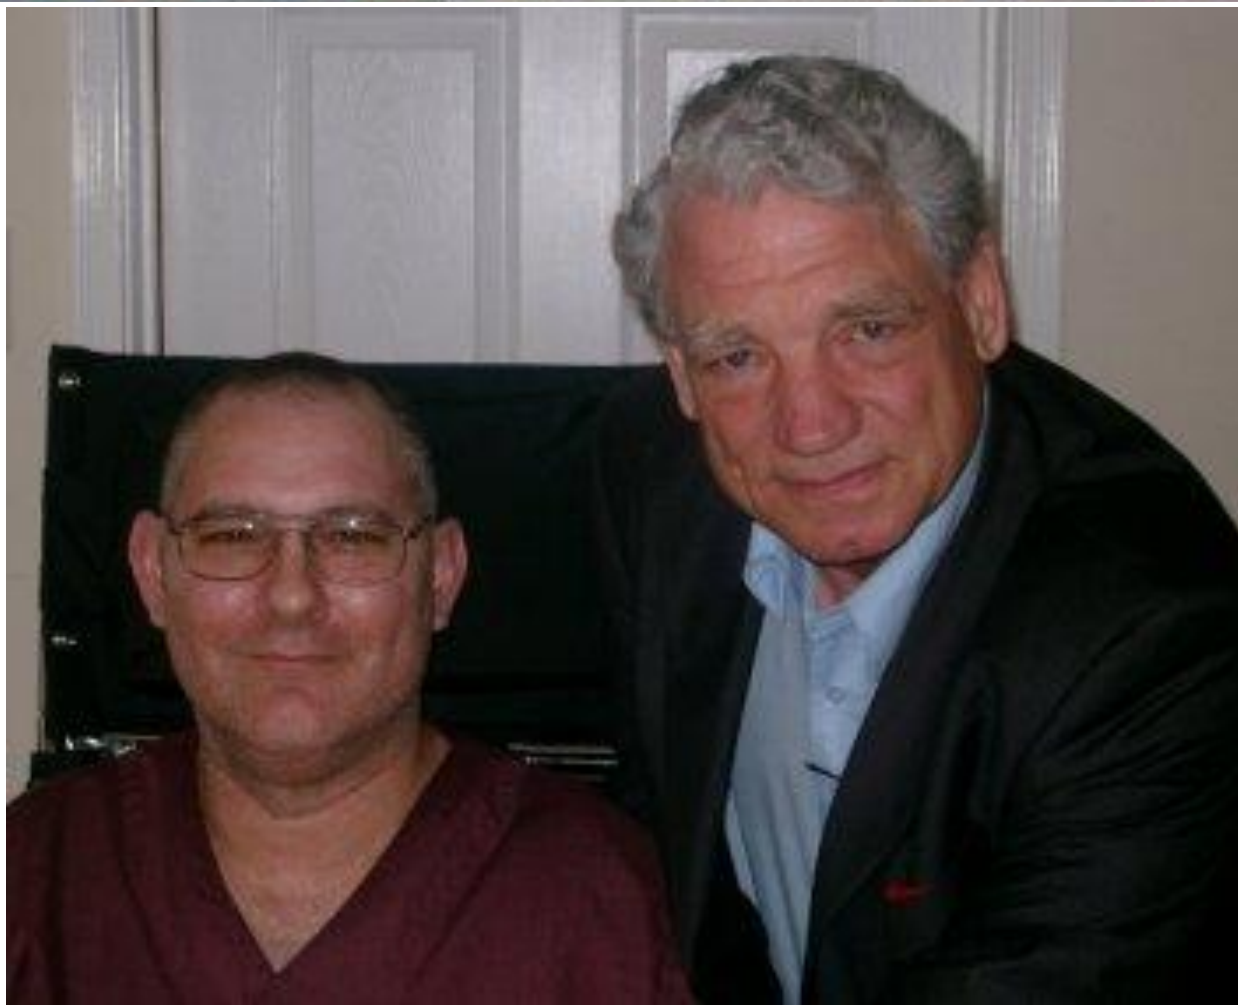

9 January 1960^{*} – 14 October 2014⁺

In lieu of flowers, please donate to an ALS Charity or to the Wounded Warrior Project. Remember Eric on May Day by showing appreciation to a nurse or caregiver in his memory.

Take a walk today, feel the sun on your face, the Texas wind in your hair and know that Eric is in God's loving hands and he is at peace.

A 9:00 a.m. visitation, 10:00 a.m. rosary, and 10:30 funeral mass are scheduled for October 21, 2014 at St. Helen's Catholic Church in Pearland, Texas. His burial with military honors will be 1:15 p.m. at the Houston National Cemetery.

In Memory of a Dear Friend and Warrior of Conscience
Captain Eric May

9 January 1960* – 14 October 2014⁺

Dear Gretchen and Family

It is with great sadness that I and Adelaide Institute received word of Eric's passing. This sad news caused me to reflect on the many memorable incidents that tied me to Eric's monumental effort in finding out the truth of major world-shaking events.

Eric was one of the first to question the official narrative that the US government released after its 2003 Iraq invasion. Through his team of observers throughout the USA he was able to analyse and then instruct his Ghost Troup members to go public whenever there was an exercise that could go "live" – if the public remained ignorant of it. Such false flag operations, of which Eric had discovered the planning, then simply fizzled out.

In no time, especially since the 2003 four-day Battle of Baghdad catastrophe, Eric was able to discover, through rigorous analysis of empirical data that his own city of Houston was going to be the target of a false flag operation. Again, his Ghost Troup members thwarted a terrorist drill going live!

From an analysis of such critical events Eric inevitably progressed to the official 9:11 narrative, and he concluded that it was fatally flawed.

I watched in admiration how Eric continued to write emails, his final ones by using his eyelids to type out his messages.

On my visits to him I was amazed how he continued to be cheerful, and courageously accepted his fate.

It is therefore pleasing for me to state that after Eric could not continue his work it was Gordon Duff who set up Veterans Today, with the aim of continuing the work begun by Eric and his Ghost Troup. It will be a mammoth task to live up to the high standard of moral and intellectual integrity set by Eric and his Ghost Troup.

In an interview conducted with Eric just on seven years ago I asked him the following:

When I visited you in October 2007 I was delighted and impressed to see you were attended to by so many ladies who all fussed over you with care, which is a good sign of a man of character, of moral and intellectual integrity. What messages have you to those who are in need, to those who are hurting and to those who are dying?

Eric replied thus:

I have indeed been fortunate to have had so many women of quality come to me during my illness. You met my two sisters, one of my nieces, and my daughter when you visited me in Texas. They have been diligent and loving, and I must say that perhaps the best thing about declining health is it brings us closer to our loved ones. Then of course there is Gretchen, my wife, who has stood by me throughout my mission of conscience. I think it's fair to say that few of us will ever enjoy such devotion as she has given me.

I can only wish that others who are afflicted might be surrounded by such angels as mine. I can only advise that they invite them, welcome them and embrace them.

In your case, Fredrick, you hardly qualify as an angel, but you are a most elegant and erudite devil, and I have embraced you as well. We have lived in interesting times together, affecting them for the better when and where we could. It has been an honor to have befriended you.

I responded:

My Captain, Eric, I personally derived great strength from your perceptive self-reflections on what ails the western democracies, in particular the USA, and for that I thank you.

An Interview with Captain Eric May

23 January 2008

Fredrick Töben: Eric May, you call yourself Captain. You came upon the international email scene in 2003 with the then outlandish claim that a nuclear weapon was used by the US when in March it and its coalition of the willing invaded Iraq. Who are you and what right have you to call yourself a captain?

Eric May: I began my career as a US soldier as a 17-year-old private in 1977, and was commissioned a lieutenant in 1983. I was promoted to captain in 1990, and served at that rank for the next eight years. Using the title now is hardly a novelty for me! My areas of expertise as a captain were military intelligence and public affairs. I was multilingual, and had focused my Russian skills on the old Soviet Union. My background made me quite aware of the possibility that a government could gain control over its national media, and afterwards announce that two plus two equals five. I put the captain's rank back on, so to speak, as part of a "mission of conscience" against the Bush administration's criminal Middle East war and criminal conduct supporting the war. As you noted, the invasion of Iraq was the turning point for me. The American media and military colluded to distract the American people with a bogus story about Private Jessica Lynch, when the real story was strenuously avoided – four days of bloody fighting in the Battle of Baghdad, April 5-9, 2003, which began at the Baghdad airport and was initially briefly reported. At the time all I knew was that the executive branch was controlling the so-called Free Press, and cover-ups were the order of the day. Calling attention to my military/media expertise by using the nom de guerre/nom de plume of "Captain May" invested me with credibility when I contradicted the official propaganda used to prop up our ongoing world war abroad and our expanding police state at home.

As for the US use of a neutron warhead to counter overwhelming Iraqi resistance at Baghdad airport, there were hints of that in early news reports. I didn't ascertain my suspicions, though, until I met both Arab media and US Iraq war veterans at Camp Casey in Crawford, Texas, where Cindy Sheehan and most of the effective antiwar was collected in the summer of 2005. Both Arabs and Americans confirmed the use of a nuke, and that explained the reason for the big cover-up of the Battle of Baghdad. On the four year anniversary of the Battle of Baghdad, Iraqi General al-Rawi, who commanded Republican Guard forces at Baghdad airport, confirmed my report in his interview with Al Jazeera.

FT: You refused the invitation to address the planned-failed - Sacramento Revisionist Conference for April 2004. Why?

EM: April, 2004, marked one year for my mission of conscience, and by then I had good cause to be a bit paranoid about meeting anyone anywhere. I had just spent six of the last 12 months in hiding after being tipped off by intelligence contacts that I was in danger of assassination. The first time I ducked out of sight, incidentally, was only a few hours before the assassination of Dr David Kelly in the UK, on July 17, 2003. There were several assassinations in mid-July, and I was supposed to be one of them, I think.

In March, 2003, just before you and I corresponded for the first time, and you invited me to the conference, I had made many official enemies in the Houston area, where I live. Houston, Texas is the capital city for the Bush family, and before the Iraq war in 2003 I published military analysis for the Houston Chronicle arguing that Houston was the most likely target for the next Al Qaeda attack. By March, 2004, I was aware of the real nature of 9/11 as a terroristic pretext for global war by the Bush administration. Further, I was convinced that Houston would indeed be the target for the next 9/11 attack -- although the attack would be carried out not by Al Qaeda, but by Al CIA-duh.

Working with an Internet group, named Ghost Troop in honor of the covered up US dead from the Battle of Baghdad, I began to lead an intense Internet public affairs campaign to alert the Houston area about the possibility of an attack. Based on the information I was receiving constantly, I made a prediction date of March 31, 2004 against the Houston area petrochemical target. There was a major Houston area explosion on March 30, 2004 -- 24 hours away from my prediction. Afterwards the Houston FBI began threatening me against issuing warnings. At the point that you contacted me I believed I was in imminent danger. So there is no way I was going to risk flying to Sacramento for your revisionist conference.

FT: OK. Having established your credentials and your expertise in analysing significant military operations, could you briefly detail what resistance you had to overcome to get your message across, that is, how did your Ghost Troop enterprise get off the ground and, again, what hurdles did you have to overcome in order to continue with your mission?

EM: Just forming Ghost Troop took a good deal of work. I cobbled the unit together with help of various activist and veteran groups, but it took me a while to implement the military model of command. It's not just that the Internet is an anarchic medium, it's also that the people who use the Internet to research and refute official propaganda are anarchic as well! There was dissension in the ranks in the early days, and we later found out that some of the people stirring it up were working for the FBI as infiltrators of groups like ours.

Both the media and the government have, for the most part, tried to ignore us. From time to time, though, we have been targeted by police agencies, mainstream media, alternative media and a large number of government operatives who pose as Internet activists. It has been strenuous to say the least, and as a result Ghost Troop has experienced turnover both in the ranks and at the leadership level.

What has saved us from being dismissed as irrelevant is the enduring quality of the analysis we have done. In 2003, I was one of the rare mainstream media writers who openly predicted a quicksand war in Iraq -- and the possibility of a world war in the near future. Today it's obvious that Iraq is quicksand, and it's also obvious that the Globalist/Zionist cabal behind 9/11 and the Middle East war is aiming to expand that war to Iran. Ghost Troop maintained for years that there had been a Battle of Baghdad cover-up, even though media worldwide participated in that cover-up until Al Jazeera let the cat out of the bag less than a year ago. It's been that way, in one area of analysis after another: Ghost Troop has dared to utter the unutterable truths while other information sources kept their heads down and their mouths shut.

More than anything, we've been helped along by our ability to anticipate events in advance. Prediction is the highest skill for a military intelligence officer, and it's the one that I've used most successfully in the last four years. By following military events and staying tuned to media patterns -- which we read correctly as propaganda patterns -- Ghost Troop has compiled an amazing record of predicting petrochemical refinery explosions that have consistently created world record profit levels. We've done it as a continuation of my belief, going back to 2003 with my military analysis for the Houston Chronicle, that the petrochemical sector was the most likely target for the next 9/11, which we call "911-2B."

FT: From The Bagdad cover-up you moved to 9/11, to Cindy Crawford's cause, and the world media saw you doing push-ups outside Bush's ranch -- I think? Why would you feel strongly enough to go there and support her cause?

EM: In July, 2005, we were once again conducting a public affairs mission to the Houston area. We warned of a likely 7/27 petrochemical 911-2B. We were off by one day, since there was a major explosion at the BP refinery in nearby Texas City on 7/28 a day after our prediction. At the time we were working to protect the nation against another 9/11 we were being opposed by the FBI, Secret Service and various military commands. Much of the gutless mainstream media believed that we had averted a "strike, but they weren't" going to take a chance by investigating or telling the real story.

A couple of weeks later, in August, 2005, Cindy Sheehan set up Camp Casey, just outside Bush's "Western White House," his property in Crawford, Texas. Since that seemed to be the only place in America where genuine radicals were assembling against Bush, it was an irresistible objective for me to follow -- I joined the camp. There were a few dozen people there on any given day, increasing to a few hundred on weekends. On one weekend, when celebrities like Joan Baez and Martin Sheen paid a visit, there were a few thousand. It was my earnest wish that there would have been tens of thousands, even hundreds of thousands, that Camp Casey would become the beginning of a popular revolt against a criminal Bush regime.

FT: By this time we were already in email contact and I unreservedly addressed you as MY CAPTAIN because I sensed you were on to something that exposed a deep-seated flaw within US foreign policy. The suggestion was made that within the US establishment, especially within the military establishment, there is a raging civil war going on that is all about US foreign policy in the Middle East. Any comment on that?

EM: It's hardly novel to point out that the US is largely under Zionist control, and that what has come to be called the Israel Lobby is a fifth column that considers non-Jewish citizens as cannon fodder for anti-Arab and anti-Muslim wars. Of course, consumers of the mainstream US media would never imagine that such could be the case. They have gradually absorbed a worldview that makes them eager to discuss something as nonsensical as "Islamofascism," but just as eager to avoid discussing something as commonsensical as the "Zionism." To put it simply, the American mass media has effectively brainwashed the American masses.

I think you're right that there is an internal struggle in the US establishment now, which has been brought on by the failure of our military adventures in the Middle East and the victories at home of the Internet, which conducts real analysis and distributes real information, thereby penetrating the media knowledge blockade. I think the majority of our top leaders knew very well that 9/11 was an inside job intended to carry us into a world war for oil and Israel, but they went along with it, thinking that finishing a global fight would be as easy as starting one.

Now these leaders, our treasonous establishment, face the disturbing realities abroad of an unsubdued Iraq, an unsubdued Afghanistan, a defiant Iran backed up by an exasperated Russia, and Islam that has been so provoked as to indeed become "radical." At home, they are confronted by a 9/11 truth movement they tried to label -- with less and less effectiveness -- as a lunatic conspiracy theory fringe. Dr. Ron Paul, a populist political candidate for the 2008 presidency, has cobbled together a political movement calling itself "The Ron Paul Revolution," and he is dedicated to dismantling of the Global War apparatus and the Homeland Security state. In recent months the stock market has plunged, and students of history will remember that the most radical periods have been during periods of economic decline, whether we're talking about Depression-era communism, or French Revolution Jacobinism.

The magic solution to all of these problems would be a 911-2B event to justify full military mobilization for the global war and full implementation of the Homeland state -- but the Internet community has become more and more adept at reading the signs that must precede another inside-job attack. The 9/11 cabal is caught between a rock and a hard place -- and it serves the bastards right!

All this provides much-needed context for the 2007 US National Intelligence Estimate, released a couple of months ago, which debunked the Bush pretext for pre-emptive war against Iran by denying that there was an Iranian nuclear threat. The 2007 NIE shows that the establishment "realists" have turned against the Israel-first Zionists, or "neocons" in current political terms. The realists were always primarily interested in the oil, and the neocons were always primarily interested in Israel. To the realists the global war supposed to be an imperial war, and it is now undermining the American Empire; while to the neocons the global war was supposed to be an "existential" war, in which the US served as an Israeli proxy to subdue a Muslim world that is opposed to the Jewish world.

FT: About six to eight months ago some fellow from an alleged white supremacist group called Tim White sent an email around accusing you of faking your debilitating condition something, if true, would have destroyed your credibility and your whole expose of the Bush machinations. Any comments?

EM: Alas, as you found when you visited me a few months ago, my condition is all too real. I only wish I were faking it all! In the US, what I'm suffering from is called Lou Gehrig's disease, a progressive neuromuscular condition named after a famous baseball player. The medical name for it is "amyotrophic lateral sclerosis," or ALS. As for Tim White, he is an FBI infiltrator working against key American Internet writers and broadcasters. There are dozens like him, who have from time to time attempted to undermine Ghost Troop and me.

FT: Where did you get that moral and intellectual strength to stay on the proverbial straight and narrow path of truth-telling without throwing in the towel?

EM: From the beginning I have relied on my military training in everything I have done. To the U.S. Army's great credit, it taught me and every other officer that if there were an abuse or crime that we could not in good conscience tolerate, that it was our duty to oppose the abuse or crime no matter what the consequence. This is called a "mission of conscience," and describes what I have been doing for the last five years very well. If I were thinking and acting as Eric May, civilian writer, I wouldn't be willing to challenge treason and traitors; but I'm thinking and acting as Captain May, military officer. Accordingly, I must live up to a high standard, regardless of the cost. I've always maintained that if other officers had known what I knew when I knew it, then they would have done as I did.

FT: You, as a soldier, have accepted your fate that all of us sooner or later must embrace – death. Your condition is unusual in that other soldiers have also contracted it. Is this a mere coincidence?

EM: The odds of contracting ALS in any given year are around one in 50,000. For former military men and women, the odds of contracting ALS are two in 50,000. In other words, former military personnel are twice as likely as the remaining population to contract ALS.

This could be the cause of the many injections given military personnel to vaccinate them against various illnesses. It could be because of inadvertent exposure to neurotoxins in the course of our service. It could be because of government experimentations on its military personnel, something that has become routine in modern times. In my own case, I believe that my ALS has been brought about deliberately as a means of silencing me.

FT: Do you fear death? Do you have any regrets?

EM: The closer I get to death, the less I fear it. This seems to be the psyche's natural way of accepting an inevitability that it can't resist. After being diagnosed with ALS in October, 2006, I greatly curtailed my activities as Ghost Troop commander. Since then I have been active, though, in writing articles and giving interviews whenever I thought I could be effective.

As for regrets, I have many. While I have lived an active and consequential life, I have not shared enough of it with those whom I have loved best. I remember once reading that regret could be defined as the knowledge that there are things you should have done but didn't, and things you shouldn't have done but did. Yes, I have many regrets.

The one thing that I strangely find myself unable to regret, though, is the mission of conscience on which I have spent the last five years, in which I believe has cost me many years that I otherwise would have had ahead of me. I did my duty, and could not honorably have done otherwise.

FT: When I visited you in October 2007 I was delighted and impressed to see you were attended to by so many ladies who all fussed over you with care, which is a good sign of a man of character, of moral and intellectual integrity. What messages have you to those who are in need, to those who are hurting and to those who are dying?

Saving Dr. Toben, Handling Real Nazis, and Countering the Holocaustianity Intellectual Blackjack

Ninety-five percent of the work of the intelligence agencies around the world is deception and disinformation," von Bülow said, which is widely propagated in the mainstream media creating an accepted version of events. "Journalists don't even raise the simplest questions," he said, adding, "those who differ are labeled as crazy. – From the online article 9-11, Mossad, the CIA and False Flag Operations

Israelis love their Shoa [Holocaust], for the Shoa is no doubt their best selling Hasbara (propaganda) product. It somehow allows them to kill en masse and to do it indistinguishably while insisting that it is they who happen to be the victims.
– PM Netanyahu's UN Speech – The Pathology Of Evil – By Gilad Atzmon 2009 September 29.

Editor's Note: This chapter includes the section "[Postscript to `Handling Real Nazis`" which talks about activist John de Nugent as a means to provide extended sociological commentary.]

In October 2008 we were beset with a terrible shock. Dr Fredrick Toben, an Australian citizen and fellow 9/11 Truth Activist, was arrested while passing through London Heathrow's Air Port simply for stating his opinions on historical issues on the Internet. In this case, the arrest dealt with a German EU arrest warrant issued over his willingness to question irresponsible Jewish exaggerations and embellishments pertaining to the "Holocaust" story. Toben had previously visited Capt. May in his home in Houston in 2007 and supported Capt. May's work on his web site.

It was bad enough that British police were willing to arrest a man for his political opinions. However, we could easily imagine how things could get even worse. If national sovereignty and citizen rights have become such a joke that an Australian citizen can be nabbed in London Airport over a German warrant, what is to prevent a day from coming where police will try to arrest 9/11 Truth activists in their homes in America because of something they publish on the Internet that someone in some other country (starting with Israel, of course) does not like?

As a matter of fact, American police did arrest Ernst Zündel, a Holocaust skeptic, at his home in Tennessee on a German warrant, and deport him Germany where he was tried and imprisoned. They also arrested and deported Germar Rudolf in his American home and deported him for trial and imprisonment as well.

These individuals had a tad less legal protection than people born and raised in America. Although they were married to U.S. citizens, both Zündel and Rudolf were born in Germany and qualified as first generation immigrants. Still, the reader should be able to see where this trend could lead some day, particularly after my discussion in Chapter 31 about Department of Homeland Security initiatives to brand a wide range of conservative Americans as potential terrorists.

Last, but not least, we could clearly see how these thought control measures relate to the deification of raw Jewish power, and efforts to suppress public knowledge of the Mossad-CIA orchestration of 9/11 and other false flag attacks.

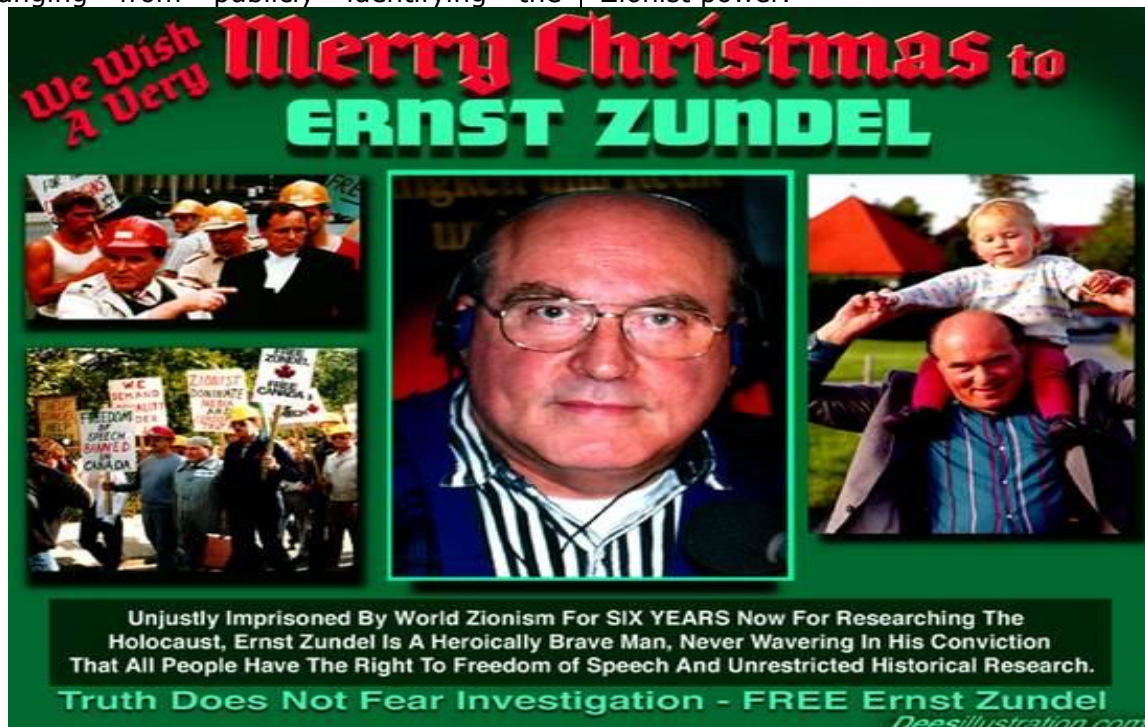

Many political writers have observed how the Holocaust story serves as the ultimate weapon to justify the Jewish state, an intellectual black jack that Zionists freely employ to promote extreme feelings of white guilt. The Jews have gone well beyond parlaying this into hundreds of billions of reparations dollars paid by Germany. In terms of total direct and indirect aid costs, Israel has extracted over three trillion dollars worth of support out of the U.S. A.

Jewish writer Norman Finkelstein has also documented in his book The Holocaust Industry: Reflections on the Exploitation of Jewish Suffering how professional "Holocaust survivors" scam billions from the public. In his book Gold Wars: The Battle Against Sound Money As Seen From A Swiss Perspective former Rothschild banker Ferdinand Lips described how leading world Zionist leaders made deliberately bogus charges against the Swiss as part of a campaign to knock Switzerland off the gold standard and score undeserved reparations.

The Holocaust religion promoted by Jewish groups has become a vital Strategic PSYOP for Zionism. "PSYOP" means "Psychological Operations" or propaganda warfare (or disinformation) employed for hostile purposes. It is "strategic" because it indirectly suppresses all criticism or resistance to Jews, ranging from publicly identifying the Mossad-CIA role in 9/11 to any form of white nationalist philosophy that might impede global Zionist power.

Certainly one implication of the Holocaust intellectual blackjack is the idea that if anyone resists Jewish lies and demands for payoffs, one is automatically an "anti-Semite" and is therefore trying to move society in the direction of some day rounding up all Jews, throwing them into concentration camps, and exterminating them all. Therefore, the world owes the Jews a highly privileged living, should treat them like gods, and give them a free pass on all their worst behavior. Expressed differently, a major reason why we had the 9/11 inside job in the first place is because Americans failed to act as adequate "counter predators" to stop the "Holocaust" mythology "predator" operation to begin with. Americans failed to challenge the lies before they spread like a cancer and became institutionalized, such as in the Holocaust Museum in Washington, D.C. Remember, we are dealing with a psychopathic power elite. An important characteristic of psychopaths is that whenever they are in the "down" position, they will stop at nothing to lick one's boots. This is because they have no real pride or consistent set of internalized principles. Conversely, when they are in the "up" position of power over you, they will not hesitate to put their boots in one's face and tell the worst lies if they think they can get away with it. Once again, they have no consistent set of internalized principles to restrain their exercise of power. They rarely if ever feel any genuine sense of either gratitude or shame. In fact, if left unchecked, they are capable of unlimited evil.

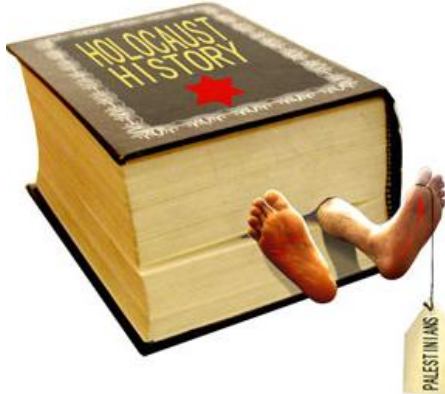

Appeasement is usually perceived by psychopaths as weakness. It usually just eggs them on. After all the trillions America has lavished on Israel, its leaders respect Americans even less today than they did fifty years ago, as evidenced by all the continuing false flag operations documented in this Mission of Conscience series.

If Americans continue act as suckers for not only irresponsible Holocaust exaggerations, but also the "G.W.O.T.," this will egg on America's psychopathic power elite to create even bigger and more dangerous deceptions that will do even more damage to America, if such is possible.

Although this ranks as one of the most unpleasant chapters to write in the whole Mission of Conscience series, I am left with this "Go Ahead! Go ahead!!!" feeling, reminiscent of the lines spoken by Michael (actor Robert De Niro) to Nick (Chris Walken) while being forced to play Russian Roulette by their Viet Cong captors in the movie Deer Hunter. Bottom line, there is no way we are going to break out of the propaganda Matrix of lies created by Alien and Predator --and put a stake through the heart of false flag attacks and enemy Info War-- until we deal with the biggest lies of all like the Holocaustianity PSYOP issue, no matter how unpleasant this task may be.

I use the term "strategic PSYOP" in the same sense as the distinction between "tactical" and "strategic" in military operations. For example, if you are a frontline infantry officer in time of war worried about being overwhelmed by enemy tanks, your "tactical" weapons might include hand-held anti-weapon weapons designed to knock out specific tanks you can see within your defense zone. In contrast, strategic weapons might include Air Force bombers that take out enemy ball bearing plants that comprise a major constraint on enemy tank production. Strategic weapons would tend to generally reduce the overall number of enemy tanks, without necessarily reducing the number of tanks you as an infantry officer might face on your own particular front.

Similarly, as a strategic PSYOP, Holocaust-related guilt programs promoted by Zionists enhance a general climate of intellectual intimidation against any public criticism of bad Jewish behavior. They generally impair the ability of traditional American conservative groups concerned about America's dwindling white population to develop effective political organizations and exercise their Constitutional rights in the face of Jewish aggression.

The Holocaust story has become a virtual religion, and as such has arguably become one of the most powerful Info War PSYOP weapons ever created. Willis Carto, publisher of The American Free Press, made note of this in the Afterword he wrote titled "Why Is 'The Holocaust Important?'" to Best Witness prior to publication of the book in 1994:

WHAT IS "THE HOLOCAUST"?

. . . The question is often asked of Holocaust revisionists by the naive, "Why are you bothered by 'The Holocaust,' which is ancient history? You must be a little crazy to doubt it; do you also believe the Earth is flat? Are you a violent anti-Semite to doubt all the eyewitnesses? Everybody in their right mind accepts it. Let people like Mel Mermelstein have their holocaust if they want it. What's the difference?" . . .

The common perception of "The Holocaust" is what is important, not the definition of it (as found in Chapter Three) because perception, not reality is the stock in trade of all salesmen, advertisers, public relations professionals, political campaign managers, "Holocaust" promoters and other merchandisers. People in the mass are moved by their perception of the truth, by deep and profound psychological motives and by authority, not by the truth itself, which is normally unknown to them.

Exploiting the moral sensibility and the feeling of guilt which is always close to the surface in Christians, Americans are constantly reminded that Israel rose "from the ashes of 'The Holocaust'" (etc.) and that it is their moral responsibility to continue to ensure "Israel's survival." Israel, we are assured, is "America's closest ally," and "the only democracy in the Middle East." The result is that American taxpayers continue to shell out billions each year as if buying modern-day indulgences. . . .

Quite literally, and without exaggeration, "The Holocaust" is a religion. The faithful vigorously reject any and all facts perceived as contrary to their faith and their ugly dogma has the internal consistency only of a revelation taken on faith, not a logical story based on commonly accepted facts, not what history is supposed to be. The alleged facts of "The Holocaust" are contradictory; its high priests cannot agree on the details even among themselves, which is why they frantically discourage debate and know nothing else other than to try to ignore or smear those wanting to confront them.

"The Holocaust" is a trigger concept that produces a Pavlovian response. By calling up an image implanted in the minds of the targeted subjects it induces a pliable attitude enabling the professionals who have implanted the image to manipulate the subjects. That the term has in reality little meaning which corresponds to the facts is immaterial; it is the religious attitude of guilt, worshipful horror and fear that counts. This syndrome, which precisely fits Hitler's famous definition of the "Big Lie" in his Mein Kampf, has cost Americans far more than mere money and the cost increases daily...

"The Holocaust" is alive and growing, not dead and fading. It affects every American every hour of the day and more so today than yesterday. It impacts on every financial decision made by the government and on most decisions made by private parties. Like it or not, "The Holocaust" must be faced and questions must be asked. Continued acceptance of the image by the unthinking, or manipulation by the corrupt and/or cowardly, is no longer acceptable by conscientious and decent Americans, including Jews.

The kowtow

The ability of Jewish pressure groups to pressure the German legal system to conduct witch hunt trials of Holocaust skeptics, combined with the reluctance of individuals in high places across Western countries to refrain from challenging Jewish lies for fear of being called "anti-Semitic" is ultimately nothing more than a kowtow to raw Jewish power.

On this level, it is no different than the Mongol practice of making subjugated Russian emissaries kowtow by falling on their faces before the court of their conquerors during the "Mongol Yoke" period in Russian history. The "Holocaust" marks the final "Jewish Yoke" period of American history, before the neo-Jacobin American empire eventually collapses like the former Soviet Union. The Holocaust story itself qualifies as a "soft" false flag operation from the way it has been overblown, just like the Von Brunn shooting incident that will be described later. A soft false flag operation so greatly amplifies upon and twists kernels of truth that it possesses most of the characteristics of a regular false flag operation. The Holocaust story itself has repeatedly shifted. Jewish groups at first said over two million died at Auschwitz, then later admitted the number is less than a million.

Extrapolation from records captured by the Soviets or archived by the Red Cross and other sources estimate between 100,000 to 300,000 deaths at Auschwitz, with perhaps as few as 50,000 Jewish dead. (Other published sources have ranged from 9,000,000 to as little as 38,031 dead).

Initially Jewish groups claimed that Dachau near Munich was an extermination camp with gassings, and now admit that there were no extermination camps in Germany. In addition, now many scholars observe that the Germans used Zyklon B gassings to delouse their own soldiers as well as concentration camp inmates to prevent the spread of typhus from lice, and not for extermination. Lastly, Holocaust stories that Jews were turned into soap bars, lamp shades, and shrunken heads have now been completely discredited.

There are even accounts surfacing now that completely contradict Jewish whoppers. The Germans provided a swimming pool and bordello at Auschwitz for Jewish "health and comfort." A Jewish hospital functioned in Berlin throughout the war. Jewish "holocaust survivor" and key activist Elie Wiesel voluntarily chose to join Germans in retreat rather than wait for the advance of Soviets who "liberated" concentration camps.

Jewish embellishment of their persecution to shamelessly milk public sympathy is a very old story that goes back to ancient times. An alert published by Capt. May, covered later in this chapter, addresses this issue.

Ironically, if Jews keep pushing irresponsible Holocaust exaggerations and other big lies, to include the 9/11 Global War on Terror mythology, this could ultimately backfire and validate the kind of "Nazi" attitude that Jews fear the most, namely that many Jews are a dangerously subversive and deceitful people who require separation for public safety purposes. People who play the victim card run the risk of arousing subconscious suspicions that there may be some valid reasons for the victimization. This is one reason why Nordic peoples, who I will discuss towards the end of this chapter, tend act on the other end of the scale by emphasizing straight talk, stoicism, and modesty in their traditional cultures.

In Sept 2008, Capt. May developed pneumonia. He wound up in the hospital under intensive care for over a month. At one point he was so close to death that immediate members of his family were summoned to his bed side.

Fortunately, he pulled through. He was already at a stage of his ALS where over 80% of its victims are dead. Although Capt. May was too weak to speak, his wife read to him drafts that I created regarding the Toben alert. He nodded yes repeatedly. Yes, he agreed that something had to be done. Yes, he supports Dr Toben's right to doubt elements of the Jewish Holocaust story.

Yes, he approved my draft for publication with his name on it.

It was not hard to get Leon Smith, owner of the Lone Star Iconoclast, to publish the alert either. Leon Smith had already been a continuous burr under King George Bush's saddle by publishing The Iconoclast in Crawford, Texas, literally only a few farm roads across from Bush's western White House. His basic position, also repeated in the Henrik Holappa case mentioned in Chapter 23, is that he does not care what Toben thinks as long as he retains the right to express his views.

In October, I published a co-authored work in The Iconoclast. I also sent it out to most members of the British, Scottish, Irish, and Australian Parliaments.

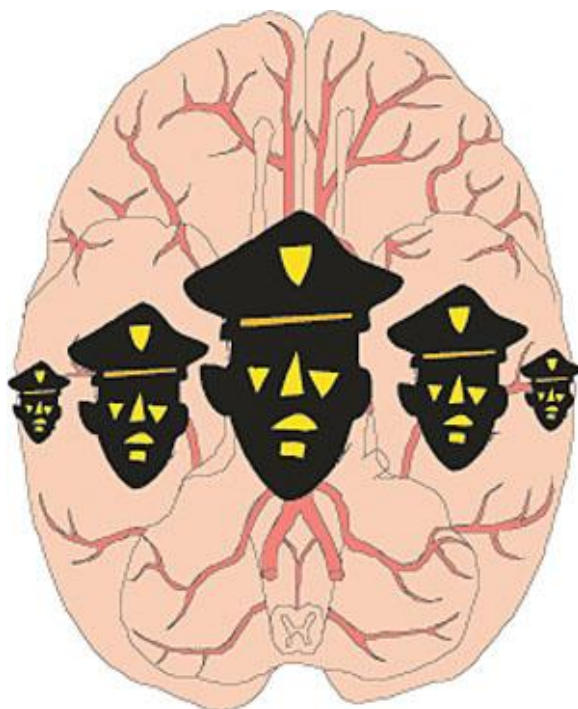

Zyklon-B insecticide, used to kill lice in the Auschwitz delousing chamber, (above) caused distinct blue staining on all the walls. This is the same poison Zionists claim was used to exterminate millions of jews in the notorious gas chambers. In 1990, Dr. Piper, top Auschwitz museum official (right) with The Institute of Forensic Research in Krakow, scientifically tested the walls of the gas chamber (below) and discovered no staining and near zero residue of anything toxic. This data is being withheld from the public.

Dr Fredrick Toben

Orwellian Alert! British Crackdown Threatens Us All

Maj. William B. Fox
Dr. James H. Fetzer
Capt. Eric H. May

October 24, 2008

Dr Fredrick Toben, an Australian citizen and historical revisionist scholar, was arrested and imprisoned while passing through London's Heathrow Airport on Oct. 1. He was en route from the U.S. to Dubai. British authorities are trying to enforce an EU warrant issued by the German government that criminalizes anyone who publishes material online "of an anti-Semitic and/or revisionist nature."

Rev. Ted Pike, a major American pro-First Amendment activist, states in "Toben Grabbed: International Hate Laws Bite Down" that "Every American, especially Christians, should protest this outrageous attack on freedom of speech. Although most Americans do not think like Dr. Toben, his arrest is just a taste of what will come—for Americans like you and your family—if we do not defend freedom now."

In his article "Extradition Will Make Dr. Toben a Martyr," author Chris Huhne, British Liberal Democrat Shadow Home Secretary, may be squeamish about Toben's ideas, but he at least stands like a man for his civil liberties. He stated: "Dr Toben is accused in Germany but his offence is to post on an Australian web site. Germany has taken on itself the role of censor, because of the capacity to download content in Germany. It is hard to see where such an attempt to extend jurisdiction might end, or what its chilling effects on freedom of speech might ultimately be."

Indeed, if Dr Toben gets deported to Germany, one can easily imagine how some day U.S. citizens changing planes in EU countries may also become vulnerable to jail time for expressing controversial opinions on the Internet. In fact, they may even get extradited from America without ever boarding a plane if current trends continue. Ominous indictors include Abu Ghraib torture, extraordinary rendition to places like Guantanamo, the Patriot Act, the Military Commissions Act, National Security Presidential Directive-51, domestic martial law exercises, and the proposed H.R. 1955 "Homegrown Terrorism and Violent Radicalization Act."

In "Thanksgiving for Thought Crime," Capt. Eric May noted that while proponents of H.R. 1955 claim that their purpose is "...nominally aimed against 'terrorists,' their real target is the Internet, which they conflate with everything from the militia movement, anarchism and anti-Semitism to Islamo-Fascism and terrorism."

In "A Dawning Dictatorship?" Capt. May described how the White House prevented Oregon Congressman Peter DeFazio from looking at secret annexes inside NSPD-51.

Lastly, consider the cases of Ernst Zundel and Germar Rudolf. Although both individuals were born in Germany, they were living in America with spouses who were American citizens before they got deported back to Germany and imprisoned for their publicly stated views on Holocaust revisionism.

Two fundamental issues involved here are:

- The right of any individual to engage in scientific, rational inquiry on any issue.
- The preservation of national sovereignty to shield citizens from alien, irrational, or malevolent laws of foreign powers.

Dr. James
Fetzer

Regarding the first issue, consider Sylvia Stolz, a German defense lawyer who was prosecuted and imprisoned by a German court for zealously defending Holocaust revisionist Ernst Zündel. She accused the court of "fleeing the truth." German free thinker Horst Mahler summed up this Orwellian affair as follows: "If Defendant A, who is charged with lying and must therefore be punished, presents evidence that he has told the truth, he is punished a second time, and this time his attorney is punished for defending him."

Regarding the national sovereignty issue, Huhne points out that: "Dr. Toben has not committed an offence under British law or indeed under the law of 17 of the 27 European Union member states." He also describes how Belgium has asserted its sovereignty by balking at deportation orders issued by fellow EU nation Poland involving such issues as abortion and euthanasia.

Dr. Toben is a free thinker who has fearlessly explored other important issues besides Holocaust revisionism. He ran one of the first web sites to archive works by Capt. Eric May that exposed 9/11 as a likely CIA-Mossad inside job. May also suggested that petrochemical explosions in the greater Houston area could be part of a dress rehearsal pattern for a repeated "9/11" terror event designed to justify war against Iran and domestic martial law.

The Iconoclast subsequently showed its concern for the patterns identified by Capt. May in its editorial "Time to Investigate Houston is Now."

Dr Toben also supported Capt. May's exposure of the 10-12-2002 Bali bombing as a likely Asian version of "9/11" probably executed by Israel's Mossad with passive or active support from elements of the CIA, MI-6, and Australian intelligence. The Australian government used this bombing as a pretext to pass repressive "anti-terror" laws and embroil itself along with the U.S. in Middle Eastern military adventures. Capt. May also views the March 11, 2004 Madrid and July 7, 2005 London bombings as more examples of false flag "terror fixes" designed to support the goals of certain interconnected power elites within America, Britain, and Israel.

"Why Is 'The Holocaust' Important?" by Willis A. Carto

This alert was more suppressed than our other alerts. Patti Woodard, the Ghost Troop message board moderator, tried to post it twice to the Portland Indy media web site, and it got knocked off twice. I submitted it to OpEdNews, having already successfully submitted the prior Wall Street "Jokers Gone Wild" alert, and it got rejected.

I then posted it to my web site. Initially it showed up under both Google and Yahoo, but then a day later it disappeared from web search engines. It only showed up at a posting made by Arthur Topham out of Radical Press and a StormFront.org posting that I made. Other postings made by Patti Woodard and myself were being blocked.

Undeterred, Patti kept posting the article at more than a dozen other sites. Although my web site posting remained blocked, we finally got up to a full page of the first Google search.

All of this meant to me that we were really hitting the enemy where it hurts. They would not try to suppress us if it weren't effective.

Rev Ted Pike weighed in on this issue with his own take on Holocaust hysteria which I found effective: "What 'Toben' and Holocaust Deniers Really Believe:"

What They Really Say

Actually, Holocaust reductionists agree that a holocaust of 72 million dead worldwide did occur during World War II and Jews were a part of it; but not six million.

Reductionists don't deny that Hitler and Nazis hated Jews. The Nazis had experienced an abortive Jewish Bolshevik German coup in 1918-19 under Rosa Luxemburg; they knew Jewish activists and financiers had been behind world revolutionary attempts to overthrow Russia and western Christian civilization. They also knew this spirit of revolution emanated from Talmudic Judaism. As anti-Communists, the Nazis violently opposed Jewish left-wing activism. Toward that end, without Christian perspective and restraint, they persecuted and murdered countless Jews. Yet, Holocaust reductionists contend that most Jewish victims died as a result of war's devastation, not a systematic program of extermination. It is historical fact that in the last months of the war extreme food shortages caused near starvation in Germany. Massive typhus epidemics ravaged Axis detention camps. Reductionists say these influences, not just Nazi cruelty, were the largest causes of the horrific spectacle of emaciated prisoners and heaped-up bodies viewed by Allied deliverers.

Especially in World Wars I and II, tales of unspeakable atrocities were circulated by governments, media and military on both sides. This was to incite such rage in combatants that they could remorselessly machine gun or bayonet opponents who shared their own Christian, European heritage. Yet, during World War II Zionist-dominated media conditioned the Allies to believe Jews were being decimated.

Holocaust historians claim Treblinka was a death camp where 870,000 Jews were put to death in gas chambers, and then buried in mass graves. In 1999, Richard Krege, a qualified electronics engineer, carried out a high tech exam of the soil.

Ground Penetrating Radar can detect minute earth disturbances and small objects up to 30 meters down. After 3 weeks work the team found the ground has never been disturbed, and, core sample analysis revealed no ash. The results obtained by the researchers show with 100% certainty that mass graves never existed in the areas called Treblinka and Belzec. The Zionist manipulated creation of Israel was largely based on these alleged deaths, and several million more which supposedly occurred at Auschwitz.

Truth Does Not Fear Investigation

Deesillustration.com

It is not surprising then that Europe's liberators, arriving at Dachau, Auschwitz, etc. and viewing such scenes of horror, reflexively blamed a systematic Nazi murder campaign. Reductionists say gas chambers existed in the camps to fumigate the lice-bearing typhus-infested clothing of thousands of prisoners and staff, not to murder living Jews. They also point to an interview by Jewish researcher David Cole with the archives director of Auschwitz.

He casually admits that the present "gas chambers" in Auschwitz I, which helped make Holocaust "believers" out of hundreds of millions until the 21st century, were actually built by the post-WWII occupying Russians in 1948. [Download David Cole video here \[66MB\]](#)

Similarly, reductionists say crematoria were used to dispose mainly of typhus-diseased bodies, not to exterminate Jews. They point out that in the last years of the war Germany carefully guarded every ounce of fuel to energize the war effort; they would not waste it just for the fiendish pleasure of burning millions of Jewish bodies.

I have briefly stated the major reductionists' arguments, not necessarily to maintain them, a task which would require much greater documentation. Rather, I want to simply represent their position accurately—something Zionist-dominated and Christian media is not honest enough to do.

By November, Captain May was out of hospital, back at home, and able to speak and operate his computer by voice command once again. I traveled from my place at that time in South Bend, Washington to Capt. May's home in north Houston in late November and ended up staying at his place an entire month. Much of our work during that period will be covered in the next chapter.

Fortunately all the international flak raised over Dr Toben's incarceration caused him to be released in November so that he could return to Australia. Dr. Toben commented on his 50 days of incarceration on Hesham Tillawi's current issues TV:

Dr Toben 50 days in prison in London.
Interview with Hesham Tillawi

Unfortunately, the persecution of Dr. Toben was far from over. Australia's Jewish community descended upon Dr. Toben again with continued persecution, as reflected in the following 28 April video:

Fredrick Töben after penalty submissions made on 28 April 2009

Narrator: Local academic Toben, notorious for denying the Holocaust, has apologized to the Federal Court for refusing to remove anti-Semitic material from his web site. But he is still facing a huge fine or prison for contempt.

Second Narrator: Dr of Philosophy Fredrick Toben has been found guilty of twenty four charges of contempt for breaching court orders forbidding him from publishing anti-Semitic material on his web site. In the Federal court this morning, for the first time, he apologized and promised to remove the offending material.

Dr. Fredrick Toben (being interviewed). "What we have is an apology to the court for having upset the court. And the web site will continue. But it will not feature, well, I will have to seek advice on this.

Narrator: "This afternoon, it appeared he complied. In court, he explained, it wasn't easy." "For me, telling the truth and obeying the law is a difficult thing to do."

Narrator: The court can either fine or imprison Dr. Toben, but he says he has no assets to pay any fine, let alone the $220,000 in costs that are being sought. So prison is a very real prospect.

Dr. Toben: So if we in Australia lose free expression, where our thoughts and our opinions are criminalized, we may as well be dead.

Narrator: You will find out his fate next month.

The Wikipedia entry for Jan 2010 gives us the rest of the story as of the date of this book:

Töben has frequently been called a Holocaust denier,^{[4][5]} and has been accused of antisemitism.^[6] although he regularly denies these assertions. He was convicted of "offending the memory of the dead" in Germany in 1999, for his Holocaust-denial activity there, for which he served seven months in prison.^[7] In April 2009, Töben was found guilty of contempt of court for breaching a court order to refrain from publishing material which "vilifies Jewish people".^[8] He appealed against the sentence, but on 13 August 2009 The Full Court of the Federal Court of Australia rejected his appeal, and he started his 3 month jail sentence.^[9]

The reader should note the use of the propagandistic terms "Holocaust denier" used by Australia's controlled media.

For starters, the term "Holocaust" originally meant "burnt offering." This gives the confinement of Jews in German internment camps a catastrophic religious connotation that is very subjective in nature, and may or may not be in accord with the facts. After all, as Alexander Solzhenitsyn observes in Two Hundred Years Together, over 75% of the Communists responsible for the mass murder of some 60 million Russians and Ukrainians were Jews.

Perhaps the Germans confined a number of Jews to internment camps who were in fact highly psychopathic, treasonous, subversive, and dangerous individuals, not a whole different from the Zionist neocons who orchestrated 9/11 and who are setting up America to get "Stalingraded" in the Middle East today (see Chapter 37).

Nor have Israeli soldiers who ghoulishly kidnapped Palestinians to steal their organs attained the moral high ground, not to mention the Jews who run organized crime in America or the Israelis who run the global white slave trade from the "Holy Land."

Furthermore, should the internment of over 110,000 Japanese Americans by FDR during WWII, or the internment of millions of German civilians and POW's by the Soviets both during and after WWII (often with a very high death rate) also be called a "Holocaust"?

What about current plans by the Zionist power elite to achieve global population reduction through false flag pandemics (see Chapter 36) or place a substantial portion of the U.S. population in FEMA camps (see Chapter 31). Should we consider their attempts to exterminate or confine us a "Holocaust" as well?

And why does Abraham Foxman, head of the Jewish ADL, sneer at Armenian efforts to have the world recognize their genocide at the hands of the Turks and Jews? Is it that Armenians, Russians, Ukrainians, Germans, and other Gentiles must be considered subhuman "cattle" (or "goyim") who do not deserve recognition for their suffering, whereas the entire world somehow owes Jews a living and must worship them instead as some kind of divine, self-anointed, self-Chosen Master Race of Old Yahweh?

Dr. Toben does not "deny" that Jews suffered a high level of fatalities within German internment camps. He simply questions the number of deaths and circumstances under which many Jews died. Despite this, controlled news sources create the false impression that Toben apologized for his views, when in fact he simply apologized for upsetting the court. There was no effort in news stories to examine the actual facts behind the Holocaust-related issues that Toben addresses. Between Feb and June 2009, Capt. May wrote about the Holocaust PSYOPs side of the Info War. First, he published a series of three articles in February stemming from Jewish attempts to dictate to the Catholic Church how to run their own affairs.

I have reproduced these three articles below, namely his 3 Feb 2009 article "The Panzer Pope and Holocaust Heresy," his 6 Feb 2009 article "Questioning The Protocols of Zion", and his 9 Feb 2009 article "Double Trouble for Holocaust Heretics! — An article review with links —."

I think all three of these articles taken together, along with additional references that I provided, provided an excellent "intellectual rabbit hole" into one of the greatest PSYOPs in history.

The online Mission of Conscience Trilogy by Maj. William B. Fox provides a historical overview and analysis of 9/11, the Madrid 3-11-2004 bombings, the London 7-7-2005 attacks, and other false flag events. It also explains the background and modus operandi of Capt. Eric May and his cyber militia called Ghost Troop that tries to anticipate and interdict repeat false flag attacks. Lastly, it diagnoses the deepest social and political dimensions of America's crises in order to recommend effective action. The summary table of contents, found here, outlines the chapters of each of the following three books: Book I: *Waking Up to the Ultimate Mission. Of particular note, Chapter 12 describes strong evidence that Osama Bin Laden has been dead since December 2001. Chapter 7 "How September 11th Became the False Flag Rosetta Stone" and Chapter 8 "9/11 Patterns As Future False Flag Indicators" explain why false flag attacks tend to coincide with major anti-terror exercises.

Book II: Defending Freedom, One False Flag Threat at a Time. This covers repeated threats against Portland, Oregon as well as Chicago, Texas City, Texas, and other cities. Chapter 14: Cindy Sheehan, Camp Casey, and Info War Martyrs provides some background on W. Leon Smith, Publisher of the Lone Star Iconoclast.

Book III: Changing the Mask, And the Continuing Cyber Battle Against False Flag "Predator" and "Alien" Larger than Books I and II combined, this takes intelligence analysis to the highest level by examining a wide range of social, political, and economic issues --with the gloves off.

The paleoconservative social and political views expressed by Major William B. Fox do not necessarily reflect those of other individuals affiliated with Ghost Troop.

Many right wingers in American believe that the Jewish global plutocracy --whose true face is reflected in the Likud-- wants to implement a U.N. Agenda 21 global depopulation program whereby 90% of the world's population gets eliminated over time. Meanwhile, in their own back yard they have turned Gaza and the West Bank into giant concentration camps. Many function as gradual anti-Palestinian extermination areas.

Eric Holmes May died October 14, 2014 after a courageous 9-year fight against service-connected ALS, with Gretchen holding his hand. He gave his life for his country.

I worked closely with Eric May for several years and had a special opportunity to get to know him in my role as author of the "Mission of Conscience" series online at <http://tinyurl.com/yh2r3zl>. This documents Captain May's work as a public activist in the "Info War." Since he helped support my authorship of this series, and continually went out of his way to educate the public regarding many of the most extremely serious and controversial issues of our time, I think it is entirely appropriate to reference this series on his obituary web page.

I close the "Mission of Conscience" series in Chapter 39 at: <http://tinyurl.com/y9h2jpg> with the following poem by Captain May, which is also fitting for his funeral:

Novae Thermopylae
(The New Thermopylae)

Stranger, you who have come and will soon depart,

Know that spirits linger here, though the wail
Of war is gone, and the reason of its start
Is lost. Give honor, you who read our tale.

We are the lilies of the battlefield,
Cut down by hands much feared, but not unkind.
Loud-roaring death, when it came to reap its yield,

Became a guileless girl with blameless mind.
She walked with aimless grace, and we her claim
She gathered in her skirt, and thus addressed:

"My tiger lilies, the sun's all-giving flame
Was your last vision. Come my dead, my blessed.

My heroes, in boldest act and manly rage
You conquered winter's gloom, the twin of age!"

Lt. Eric May, 1984

The "Info War" is far from over, in fact following publication of the last book of my Mission of Conscience Trilogy in February 2010, quite a few pre-existing threats have intensified. Many new threats have appeared on both an international and domestic level. The stakes are now higher than ever. However, genuinely patriotic resistance has also intensified. As in any prolonged struggle, many individuals must selflessly fight "Alamos" and "Thermopylaes" along the way in order to wear down enemies and buy time for gathering resistance even though these individuals may never live to see the final outcome. For those of us who survive Eric May, we must each find our own way to continue a "Mission of Conscience."

Captain May mobilized the efforts of many talented individuals at crucial moments in the fight against tyranny. He accomplished quite a lot in terms of raising public awareness about the reality of high level corruption in America and false flag threats both at home and abroad. He continued to fight the good fight even as Lou Gehrig's disease gradually rendered him a complete quadriplegic.

Captain May was also enigmatic in many ways. As a former U.S. Army intelligence officer who closely followed high level intrigues and even became involved in them, it is quite possible that many years from now insiders will go public with additional information and government documents will be declassified that reveal new dimensions regarding Captain May's life and work. However, based on what I know so far, he had many heroic attributes that remain undeniable. He was a fighter to the very end, and his sharp intellect and steely determination earned him the respect of friends and foes alike.
